The background of the slide is a composite image. At the top, there is a solid purple rectangular bar. Below it, a world map is visible, with the landmasses in a light blue color and the oceans in a slightly darker blue. In the foreground, there is a faint, semi-transparent image of a laptop keyboard and a small potted plant with long, thin leaves on the left side. The text is overlaid on the world map and laptop background.

The Diplomatic Club, a scientific club founded and actively supported by students and their supervisors, brings students together to address various research challenges. The results of this work are presented in student conference proceedings and in national student research competitions. The department hosts international scientific conferences annually, attended by both university students and students from other cities and CIS countries. Undergraduate and graduate students of the faculty regularly participate in annual traditional scientific weeks and national subject Olympiads. Over the past three years, students from the department have consistently ranked among the top three in Olympiads and research projects in their fields. In the 2023-2024 academic year, 17 students from the department are studying on the basis of a state educational grant from the Republic of Kazakhstan. Over the past three years, 15 students from the department have received a presidential scholarship for excellent academic performance and active participation in community service, and more than 100 students have received tuition benefits from the Rector of SKU named after M. Auezova.

Within the framework of international cooperation, the department closely collaborates with foreign universities, and international academic mobility is well-established. One faculty member of the department completed a scientific internship under the Bolashak program. Mamasharipova G.A. studied at the George Washington University (Washington, USA) in 2015, and at the Dalian University of Foreign Studies (Dalian, China) in 2017. Turymshaeva A.T. at the University of Deusto (Bilbao, Spain), at the University of Minnesota (Minnesota, USA) in 2021, Amirbek A.A. at EGE University (Izmir, Turkey), and at Sivas Cumhuriyet University (Sivas, Turkey). PhD in History, Associate Professor Kупenova G.Y. Gulbanu Bolatovna Izbasarova, a recipient of the Bolashak International Scholarship Program of the President of the Republic of Kazakhstan, completed training at the Dissertation Council of Lomonosov Moscow State University, specializing in Russian History (07.00.00). She successfully defended her doctoral dissertation on the topic: "The Kazakh Steppes as an Object of the Orenburg Department's Reform: Within the Framework of the Russian Empire's Management Experience(1731 – mid-19th century)," receiving a Doctor of Historical Sciences degree.
